Hi Bob,

We have a briefing coming up for management at HQ on Thursday. My counterparts at HQ have passed on a couple of questions that may come up during the briefing. I don't have answers to these, but I thought DEQ might:

- Is there congressional interest at the site: EPA has no contact with congressionals – but I'm guessing that staffers have been briefed on site progress at some point. If you have any sense, that would be great.

Neither Paul Seidel (my manager) nor I are aware of discussions with members of Congress. Paul has sent an email to Leah Feldon (our deputy director) to see if she is aware of any such communication. I will let you know what we learn from Leah. But in case we don't hear from her before your Thursday meeting, that's what we know at this point.

- Has there been any communication between the state and USACE HQ about this site? I'm guessing no, that communications have been restricted to the Portland District.

We have not had communication with USACE HQ; just Portland staff.

- Has Department of Energy or BPA ever been part of any discussions with DEQ regarding this site? I'm guessing no, but wanted to check.

BPA has attended many of the Technical Advisory Group meetings. Outside of TAG meetings, we have not discussed the site with BPA or Department of Energy.

Bob
